

COL. CARRICK'S GRIPPING STORY OF WAR OPERATIONS

The Canadian Who has Seen More of Battle Front and Activities than Any Other Speaks to Port Arthur Audience.

ADDRESS BY Lieut.-Col. CARRICK

Direct from the fighting zone in France and, temporarily away from his duties as Canadian Officer on the British Headquarters Staff, Lieut.-Col. Carrick, who is in Canada on a confidential mission as emissary of the British Government has, upon request, consented to address a public meeting in Port Arthur on Tuesday evening, June 29th. Col. Carrick will speak for an hour on

“Canadians On The Firing Line”

Recent events have demonstrated that there is no Canadian with the forces in France better equipped than Col. Carrick to tell the thrilling story of the record of the Canadians at Ypres, St. Julien and Langmarcq. Col. Carrick has especially kept in touch with the Port Arthur and Fort William soldiers, and his narrative will tend to bring us into closer touch with the boys whom we class as “our own” and in whom we have a peculiarly personal interest. The address will be given in the
